

"...Pure musical pleasure."

- New York Magazine

"...We get a taste of what it must have been like."

- New York Daily News

"MEMORIES OF DUKE stay right with the band."

- The New York Times

"The film's great attraction lies in the filmmaker's wise resolution to let the music speak for itself. And how the music speaks!"

- David Meeker, U.S. Independents

"...The offering of Gary Keys is so far above any of the past efforts that no comparison is possible."

- Jean Ruffly

MEMORIES OF DUKE is a loving homage to Duke Ellington, shot in 1968, as the bandleader and his musicians play their way through a Mexican tour. In addition to the concert performance, there are interviews with musicians Russel Procope and Cootie Williams, and historic scenes from early films in which Ellington and his band performs.

The film has been invited to festivals around the world including the London Film Festival, the Toronto Festival of Festivals, the Denver International Film Festival, New Directors, New Films in New York, the Moscow Film Festival (Best Documentary).

Produced and Directed by Gary Keys. Photography by Urs Furrer, Bill Hudson, and Ed Lachman. Edited by Joe Tripician and Janice Keuhnellan. Sound by Phil Pearle and Fred Bouch.
